The Division of Pediatric Infectious Diseases at the Children’s Hospital of Pittsburgh of UPMC/University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine invites applications for a physician-scientist faculty position at the Assistant Professor level (MD, MD/PhD). Successful candidates will be expected to establish and maintain independent research programs, provide clinical care to children with infectious diseases, and participate in teaching. Candidates should have substantial post-graduate training highlighted by peer-reviewed publications that demonstrate research productivity. Candidates committed to either clinical or laboratory-based research are encouraged.

The Children’s Hospital of Pittsburgh (CHP) is a 315-bed state-of-the-art hospital that opened in 2009. CHP serves a >2.6 million population catchment area in Western Pennsylvania. CHP was ranked 7th in the nation overall in the 2016-2017 U.S. News & World Report Honor Roll of America’s "Best Children's Hospitals."

The University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine holds >$480 million of NIH funding and ranked fifth among more than 3,000 entities that received NIH support in 2017. Pitt offers an extremely collegial environment, with expertise in microbial pathogenesis, immunology, structural biology, and many other disciplines.

Pittsburgh is a vibrant city with art and music treasures, easy access to the great outdoors, and charming neighborhoods, and an excellent cost of living. Pittsburgh is home to the exciting Pittsburgh Steelers, Pirates, and Penguins, and the world-renowned Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra. Learn more at www.coolpgh.pitt.edu.

Applicants should send a curriculum vitae, a statement of current and future research interests, and three letters of recommendation to: John Williams, MD, c/o Brittany Ezell, Division of Pediatric Infectious Diseases, Children’s Hospital of Pittsburgh, Rangos 9th floor, 4401 Penn Ave, Pittsburgh, PA 15224. Inquiries, applications, and recommendation letters can be directed via email to ezellbl@upmc.edu.

The University of Pittsburgh is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and values equality of opportunity, human dignity and diversity. EEO/AA/M/F/Vets/Disabled